

Day 10: Productive Ummah

Bismillah

It's Day 10 of our Challenge.

Here is where you bring it all together now – all the ten days and put what you've learnt into daily practice insha'Allah.

Become Productive – a productive Ummah!

Now is the time to have your spring clean - to throw away all that is unnecessary and pointless and fill your lives with positivity and productiveness - and this is done by learning about Allah (swt), understanding our purpose in this world and taking action.

Remember, Allah (swt) said that He has not created man nor jinn except to worship Him (swt).

This should always be at the forefront for us and we should always remind ourselves of this.

Allah (swt) will test us with trials and tribulations - but He (swt) said that He shall not burden us more than we can handle. We will all get our share of it and I will never get your share and you will never get mine - but what Allah (swt) does give us as trials are those that we can handle - we need to react to them properly - and that is what Allah (swt) is watching in us. So, next time something unfortunate happens, please think about it that Allah (swt) is waiting to see our reaction and what actions we will take.

We have only one life in this world - let's make the most of it - worshipping Allah (swt), obeying His commands, doing all that He has asked us to do and refraining from all that He has told us to refrain from insha'Allah.

Re-read all the previous Challenges as reminders - as we are human beings, we are forgetful by nature and we need constant reminders to keep us steadfast upon the deen insha'Allah.

You have the ten day pdf's with you for life now.

Anytime you need to get away from the world for a bit to recharge and supercharge your emaan, grab your pdf's and challenge yourself.

Day 10: Productive Ummah

How to become more productive and truly live our lives to the fullest?

See the brief 'Action Points' below and get acting insha'Allah!

Action Points:

- a) Plan - grab your pen and paper - better yet, grab that journal/notebook that is sitting on your table right over there - you know the one that you brought to write all your plans, ideas, thoughts in and never got round to using it? Blow off the dust and label it 'Thought Book' - and get writing!

- b) Goals - we all have dreams, wishes, ambitions - we all want to do more, yet we have a billion excuses not to do it. So now is the time to write those goals down and start working on them. Remember - a goal that is written down is more realistic than one which is not written down.

- c) Deen and Duniya - have you got the balance? Need to work on the balance? Then write down the areas you need to have a closer look at and need to work on insha'Allah (refer back to Day 9 Challenge).

- d) Take Action - take action on all the 'action points' that you have read in all these Challenges - all these methods are tried and tested by yours truly - we practice what we preach!

- e) Stay in Touch - email and let me know how you're getting on with your spiritual journey, balancing your deen and duniya, goal setting and taking action. Send me your full feedback for 10 days and any area you still need extra help with.
